Docs for ONTAP Select

We recently added content for ONTAP Select. The content can help you with ONTAP Select running on VMware ESXi, and it provides hypervisor-independent documentation for using the ONTAP Select Deploy REST API.

We're excited about this change because the content authoring team combined content from multiple sources into one searchable online library.

Take a look and contribute to this new documentation experience for ONTAP Select. You can edit, request a change, or even send feedback. Go to the ONTAP Select documentation to get started.
